

LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY
Scholars Academy | Southampton, NY

*Saturday and Summer Programs for Academically Talented
Students in Grades 4 to 10*

Dear School Leader,

Long Island University is opening an exciting enrichment opportunity this summer for academically talented students on the East End of Long Island. The Scholars Academy of Long Island University will offer weekday morning programs in the classroom building on the property of the Greek Church of the Hamptons at 111 St. Andrews Road in Southampton, NY 11968.

Modeled after the Center for Gifted Youth at LIU Post, the academy is designed to provide grades 4 to 10 with onsite challenging learning experiences in the fine arts, humanities, writing, law, STEM, entrepreneurship, and more. The Scholars Academy is constructivist in nature and targets a curriculum that is approximately one year above the student's grade level. Enrichment experiences are geared to the joy of learning, discovery, creativity, problem solving, and higher-order thinking skills.

We understand that parents are seeking onsite enrichment for their children due to the pandemic and we hope that you will encourage your academically talented students to apply at liu.edu/scholarsacademy.

We would also be happy to speak with you or a school representative to discuss the program with you further.

Sincerely,

Rita Langdon, Ph.D.

Dean, School of Professional Studies
